3. Purposes and legal basis of the processing

Photos and/or videos are processed (collected, stored and forwarded to third parties) for the purpose of the BfR's public relations activities based on the data subject's consent pursuant to Art. 6(1)(a) GDPR. In particular, photos/videos are used for publication on the website and in brochures and in publications of all types.

4. Recipients or categories of recipients of personal data

Your data will be accessed for the aforementioned purposes by the BfR departments that are responsible for publication.

Depending on which publications you have consented to in the declaration of consent, the images and sound recordings may be forwarded:

- internally where applicable to BfR employees (Risk Communication department, Media and Public Relations) and/or
- to external service providers (e.g. agencies, printers) in the context of producing BfR print and online products for the purposes you have consented to.

Recordings are stored in the BfR internal database of images which is located on a BfR server.

Where images, videos or sound recordings are published on social media channels, the data is being transmitted to and processed by the operators of the social media platforms. We have no influence over how data is being processed by them. You may find relevant information from these third-party providers here:
